LANDSCAPE SERVICE

ANY years' experience and natural fondness for the work have given us special skill in planning effective gardens and artificial landscape planting. To accomplish satisfactory results from landscaping, one must know the characteristics of plants, such as height, time of flowering, color, ultimate size, and adaption to shade, soil, and exposure. We grow practically all the planting material used in our landscape work and know how the different kinds of nursery stock will develop in the soils and climate of this section. This practical knowledge enables us to produce gardens and landscapes that grow into a permanent place of beauty.

We are always glad to submit plans and estimates for any work of this sort, whether it is large or small. This service is rendered free and without obligation, except where elaborate plans and special trips are necessary, in which case a small fee is charged.

If you have any difficulty with plants, lawns, trees, or flowers, we are always glad to make a personal call, within reasonable distance, to give advice.

With prices for nursery stock at their present low level, it is a propitious time to rearrange perennial borders, design rose-gardens, and make evergreen plantings. Let us submit plans now without any obligation on your part and show you what can be done with very little expense. We will be glad to make appointments with you at your home at any time.

TIME TO PLANT

Plant Perennials from April 1 to June 1 and September 1 to November 15.

Plant Roses from March 15 to May 15 and October 15 to December 1.

Plant Peonies and Irises from September 1 to frost.

For late planting in the spring, we carry field-grown perennials and plants in pots.

DELIVERY. Unless otherwise instructed, we will ship all orders to arrive at proper planting-time. Postage prepaid when cash accompanies order.

TERMS. If you desire to open a charge account, please send bank or trade references with order.

VISITORS WELCOME. We shall be very glad to see you if you are in the vicinity of our Nursery and will be glad to show you over the grounds and point out the quality of our stock.

TURNER BROS. NURSERY, West Long Branch, New Jersey

The culture of Delphiniums is quite simple, but if exhibition flowers are desired for the shows, a little extra care will produce wonderful results.

Prize-Winners

UR Delphinium Hybrids have been consistent winners of prizes at all the shows where they have been exhibited. They have become so well known because of their outstanding size and formation that we often hear people remark at the shows, when we are arranging our exhibit, "Those must be Turner Bros.," even before namecards are placed.

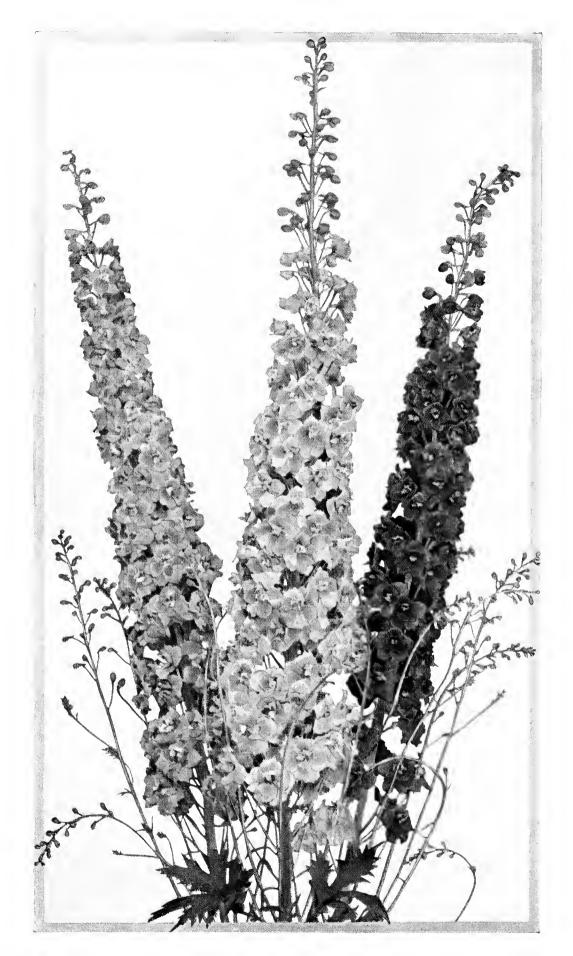

It is very gratifying to continually receive letters from customers telling us of prizes they have won for blooms produced from our Delphinium plants.

The illustration at the side of the page is a reproduction of a spike grown at our Nursery, and is typical of what our strain produces. The unusually fine range of color, perfect form, and enormous size of these Hybrids have been achieved by years of eareful study and selection of seed.

Delphiniums grow nicely in many different kinds of soils, but they especially like a heavy clay loam. When planting, use one small handful of a good organic fertilizer, such as Driconure, and one of a good commercial fertilizer to each plant. Incorporate these well with the soil in each hole before placing the plant. The field-grown clumps should be planted so that the erown is barely covered with soil. Young pot-plants should be planted so that the ball is covered about one-half inch with soil.

Delphiniums like plenty of water. During dry spells, water thoroughly at least once a week. An occasional light sprinkling in the evening, after a hot day, is very beneficial. Always keep the ground well cultivated to a depth of about 2 inches. If the lateral growths on each spike are removed, the individual flowers will be larger.

STRONG DELPHINIUM PLANTS

Selected Plants. From thousands of wonderful hybrids growing in our fields each year we select a limited number of the very finest types in separate shades of E HAVE developed these beautiful perennial flowers into one of our most important specialties. Neither time, patience, nor expense has been spared to bring them to their present state of perfection. These greatly improved hybrids produce numerous massive and stately spikes 5 to 6 feet high, bearing large, double and semi-double flowers of perfect form throughout one-half to two-thirds their entire length. The colors range from palest blue to deepest indigo and from most delicate mauve to glowing royal purple, passing through innumerable intermediary pastel shades of bewildering richness and variety.

Our keenest desire is to have you grow these levely things in your garden. They will stand comparison with any Delphiniums in the country.

FEW years ago our gardens were enriched by the introduction of the dazzling white and very hardy Korean Daisy, Chrysanthemum coreanum. Because of its vigor, persistence, and abundant bloom it gained rapidly in popularity for late autumn bloom in the garden.

Hybrids of the Korean Daisy with the older forms of Pompon Chrysanthemums have given us this new race of Hybrid Koreans, all of which carry the unimpaired hardiness of the original Korean and produce upstanding sheaves of single and semi-double flowers in all the colors of the ordinary Chrysanthemums, with an added luminosity inherited from their wild parent along with other useful qualities.

The cut-flower value of these Korean Hybrids is very high. Their blooms have all the grace of the hothouse gerberas and last almost indefinitely when cut, without fading or losing their freshness. They come into bloom at about the time of the first frost and can endure considerable freezing without serious larm; thus they prolong the season of striking garden color well into the late autumn months. And because of their iron-clad constitution they can be depended on to increase and repeat their harvest of beauty year after year. Varieties and prices are listed above.

These old-fashioned, hardy flowers have won an important place in the gardens of most flower-lovers because of their varied formation and gorgeous range of color. Year after year they are among the first flowers to greet us in the spring, with renewed vigor after the winter rest, and the last flowers to leave us in the fall.

Considering the countrywide trend toward economy, the perennial garden, in the long run, is the most economical garden to plant because once planted it eliminates the expense of replanting every year. Many varieties are useful as cut-flowers. They need very little care outside of weeding and cultivation. After the first hard frost, cut the tops down and cover with a good coat of well-rotted manure.

Plants of the following varieties are fine, strong, nursery-grown stock, with the exception of a few that are best transplanted from pots, and will bloom abundantly this year.

ROCK-GARDEN PLANTS and Collection

HE growing of alpine plants is probably the most highly specialized form of outdoor gardening. It is a fascinating pastime because of the intrinsic beauty of the miniature perennials as well as the real difficulties encountered in making them happy away from their mountain homes. The wise gardener will not be in too much of a hurry to assemble an expensive collection of tricky alpines. He will proceed more slowly, developing the broad outlines of his garden and furnishing it, as it were, with plants which are easy to grow and are known to be adapted to his local conditions. In the friendly setting provided by such congenial plants he may then venture into the more esthetic grounds of the high alpines.

In the list on this page we have tried to gather together varieties of genuine rock-garden merit, the kind of thing that everybody depends on for the broad, general, well-furnished garden-effect, and which can be depended on to thrive year after year without too much bothersome care. Here are low, mat-forming plants which may be allowed to drape themselves over difficult rock-joints or to cover level patches and cracks between stepping-stones. There are some trailers which will droop artistically over large boulders or run along the edge of a curbing, and may at times be useful for covering bare spots where earlier blooming plants may have disappeared. There are also interesting little tufted plants for tucking into the protected corners or placing at points where minor accent effects are needed.

The point is that these are all dependable plants. They are true citizens of the rock-garden and belong there. Such a collection as this is bound to make a fine effect in a brand-new rockery whether anything else is planted or not, and they are indispensable to the good appearance of older collections.

Ajuga reptans. Evergreen ground-cover with bronzy foliage. Flowers blue, in S-inch spikes. Anchusa myosotidiflora. Big, heart-shaped leaves. Flowers blue like forget-nue-nots. Grows about a foot high and as much across. Armeria laucheana. Flat, cushion-like plant with grassy foliage and small heads of rosy crimson flowers on tall, slender stems. Arabis alpina. Gray-leaved ground-cover plant of rapid growth, submerged in spring under 6-inch spikes of dazzling white flowers. Cerastium tomentosum. A quick-growing, matted plant with gray-white foliage and a mantle of starry white flowers in late spring.

Dianthus cæsius. Closely woven mat of gray-green, grassy foliage surmounted by fragrant, fringed pink flowers on slender stems in midsummer.

Collection of Rock-Garden Plants

Iberis, Little Gem. A half-shrubby little tuft with evergreen foliage and sprays of snowy white flowers in early spring.

Nepeta mussini. Gray, aromatic trailer with velvety foliage and clusters of pale layender-blue flowers in summer.

Phlox subulata. A mat of mossy, almost spiny, foliage covered in early spring with a blanket of brilliant rose-pink flowers.

Physostegia virginiana, Vivid. A striking plant for late summer bloom. The strong stalks grow about 2 feet high, bearing huge spikes of deep rosy violet flowers.

Primula veris. Rosette-like plants with evergreen foliage and sprays of tiny yellow flowers in early spring.

Santolina chamæcyparissus. An aromatic, shrubby plant with gray foliage, growing about I foot high. The yellow flowers are inconspicuous.

Sedum. A vast family of indispensable plants. We offer three distinct varieties.

Thymus serpyllum coccineus. A splendid, mat-like creeper with sweetly aromatic foliage and tiny purple-crimson flowers in midsummer.

Tunica saxifraga. Grassy tufts about 6 inches high, with small pinkish white flowers borne aloft on thread-like stemsthroughout the entire season.

Veronica repens. An excellent evergreen erceper with small, deep green foliage, from which rise 6-inch spikes of exquisite, layender-blue flowers in June.

Azalea hinodegiri

There are three shrubs on this page of which we are particularly fond. The Azalea at the top is one of the finest of all bedding plants and covers itself with myriads of brilliant scarlet flowers in early summer; the deliciously scented Daphne encorum, whose clusters of soft pink flowers are illustrated below, blooms early in the spring and delightfully and fragrantly again in the autuum; and the bold purple-flowering Summer Lilac, or Butterfly Bush, Buddleia, which is pictured directly below.

There are two great classes of tris, the Japanese type, illustrated above, which blooms in mid-June and produces splendid flowers from 6 to 10 mehes across, and the common or German Iris, of which hundreds of varieties exist, and whose fragrant flowers are produced in great abundance in late May and early June. Varieties of both types are described elsewhere in this Catalogue.

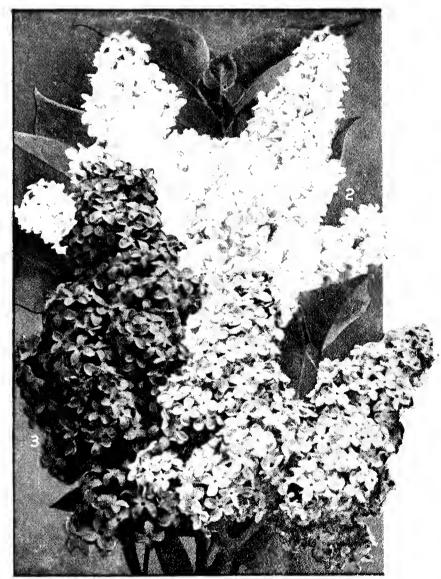

Daphne cneorum

Buddleia, Ile de France

Kalmia latifolia (Mountain Laurel)

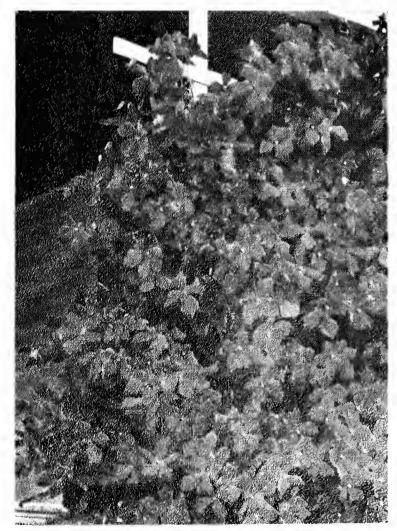

Hybrid Lilacs

There is no flower which has a wider appeal to the sensibilities of garden folk than the lovely French Hybrid Lilaes. They are no harder to grow than the common Vulgaris type and the returns are infinitely greater. Three charming varieties are illustrated above.

Kolkwitzia amabilis (Beauty-Bush)

The beautiful Mountain Laurel pictured in the upper left is one of our finest native plants for naturalizing in woodlands and partially shaded places. The Beauty-Bush, pictured directly above, is an extremely hardy and floriferous subject, one of the most spectacular of all early-blooming shrubs. Below is the purple glory of Clematis jackmani, one of the finest and most graceful vines for covering the end of a porch or veranda.

On this page there is one plan for each Collection, with dimensions and key numbers, showing where to place the different varieties according to their height. The number after each variety indicates the approximate distance the plants should be placed apart.

EVERGREENS

The planting of Evergreens about the home is one of the finest investments one can make. They increase in value and beauty each year as they grow into larger and finer specimens. There is nothing to equal the Evergreens for adding warmth, color, and background to the home and grounds.

We are always glad to submit estimates for landscaping on request.

The following prices are for exceptionally fine, bushy, well-shaped trees, dug with a generous amount of soil and burlapped. You will find that our Evergreens measure well up to each size. Many of these varieties are fine for rockery work.

HYBRID TEA OR EVERBLOOMING ROSES

These are the most popular of all Roses because of their everblooming habit and variety of color. We have always made a special effort to deliver extra-fine, strong, budded plants direct to the customer from our nursery where they are grown. This insures fresh, vigorous plants that will thrive and bring much joy and satisfaction to the grower. It has been very gratifying to receive many favorable comments regarding the type of Rose plants we have delivered to satisfied customers in the past.

Roses like a deep bed of about 12 to 14 inches of good soil, with well-decayed manure spaded in. Set bushes 1½ to 2 feet apart, placing them so that the junction of branches and root is just covered with soil. All classes of Roses should be pruned back severely to about 6 to 8 inches when planted.

Protect Hybrid Teas in the winter by hilling the soil up around the plants or by covering with a litter of strawy manure or leaves.

Be sure to remove this early in spring.
